

The Herald and News

E. H. AULL, EDITOR.

Entered at the Postoffice at Newberry, S. C., as 2nd class matter.

Tuesday, November 17, 1908.

The Killing of Mr. E. W. Carmack was a most deplorable affair. He was a brilliant man and in the prime of young manhood. That being true his tragic taking off is all the more deplorable. It should not be forgotten, however, in deploring the street duel that Mr. Carmack was also armed with a deadly pistol and that he tried to kill his antagonist.

The tendency with some editors is too much towards the abuse of men whom they oppose. The liberty of the press, which should always be held inviolate should not be abused, as it too often is. In the heat of debate and of political campaigns we too often see men attacked unjustly and wrongly in the effort to compass their defeat. We do not know that this was the case in Tennessee but the press sometimes, it seems to us, misconstrues liberty to mean license.

The U. D. C. convention recently held in Atlanta passed a resolution making wives of Southern men eligible to membership though the wives may be daughters of Federal soldiers. This action destroys the organization. We thought the badge necessary to membership in the U. D. C. was that some ancestor was a legitimate and real soldier in the Confederacy or had seen service in the cause of the Confederacy. By this action members may be made and daughters created by a written resolution. That, however, does not make them daughters of the Confederacy, except in name.

We publish in full the remarks of Judge Schumpert at Spartanburg in regard to the militia. We think Judge Schumpert did the proper thing. It was no reflection on the militia. They were simply doing their duty but to put it up to the people of the county—their patriotism—to maintain the good order and dignity of the court—they could not do otherwise.

It would seem from the report of sales in the county dispensaries for October that the practice of prohibition is not growing in South Carolina. One half the counties are selling more whiskey than the whole State sold under the old State dispensary.

It is unfortunate that there should be a fever scare at Winthrop college. The wise thing for the board to have done when the fever broke out would have been to close the school until the first of January and if necessary extended the session next spring a few weeks longer. This would have given opportunity to investigate thoroughly all probable or possible causes of infection.

About half the girls have gone home and those that are left at the college had as well be home for the good they are doing in their studies. It is impossible to get work out of pupils that will be at all satisfactory under conditions at Winthrop.

We are glad, however, to note that no new cases are reported and that none have terminated fatally.

The committee appointed to look into school conditions in Newberry and submit report has done its work. The report is published. Two plans are submitted. Either one can be carried out without an increase of taxes. Even if taxes have to be increased something should be done.

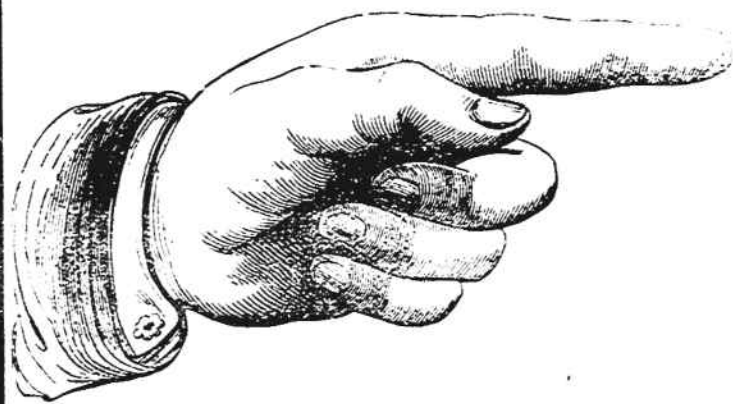

The report is concise and gives full information as to present conditions.

The plan to erect two buildings in different parts of the city—one for high school and one for lower grades—seems to be the favorite with the committee. It would be better to have the high school department in a separate building.

The present facilities as pointed out by the committee were only adequate nearly twenty years ago and in that time the city has more than doubled in population and we have neglected our schools. This should not be permitted longer to be the case.

Our whole system needs reorganizing. There should be a principal with a living salary and the salary of the superintendent should be increased to $1500 and the teachers should have not less than $50 to $60 per month and then we should have and could command efficient and trained teachers who should be elected on their merits and for no other reason.

The people are ready to furnish the facilities and if the committee will submit either plan to the people the people will approve it.

CIVIC IMPROVEMENT.

We note that the Civic Association is to meet Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock for the election of officers and the collection of dues.

This is a good time to talk about civic improvement. More important than talk, however, is action. We ought to do something. No better time to do it can be found than NOW.

We believe our ladies when they began the agitation of organizing sent to Anderson for some one to come down and talk to the ladies of Newberry. She came and talked and our association was organized.

We would suggest that the Civic Association of Newberry now send a delegation to Anderson and that the mayor and two or three aldermen go along and take a picture of the Anderson public square and see how it is kept and then come back and look at our public square and take a picture of it. The Anderson public square was a worse looking object than ours before the ladies took hold of it. That is if it is possible for a public square to be more unattractive than ours. Ours is now a wagon yard and a standing and resting place for hacks and could scarcely be made worse in appearance. Anderson's is now a beautiful and attractive park and is neatly kept. The monument is in the centre and is also neatly kept.

We have more space and could make a beautiful park and there is no more laudable work in which our civic association could engage. We need to pay more attention to the beautiful. Why not begin NOW.

FOLLOW ME.

By Ainsley Perkins.
Voyager on life's troubled sea,
Sailing to eternity,
Turn from earthly things away;
Vain they are, and brief their stay;
Chaining down to earth thy heart,
Nothing lasting they impart.
Voyager, what are they to thee?
Leave them all and follow me.

Traveler on the road of life,
Seeking pleasure, finding strife,
Know the world could never give
Aught on which the soul can live;
Grasp not riches, seek not fame,
Shining dust and sounding name.
Traveler, what are they to thee?
Leave them all and follow me.

Wanderer from thy Father's throne,
Hasten back—thy errors own;
Turn, thy path leads not to heaven;
Turn, thy sins will be forgiven;
Turn, and let thy song of praise
Mingle with angelic lays.
Wanderer, here is bliss for thee;
Leave the world and follow me!

LYCEUM COURSE.

Second Attraction Henry Lawrence Southwick—Historical Ability and Oratorical Power.

The second attraction of the lyceum course is Henry Lawrence Southwick of Boston. He is a high price attraction and one of the best lecturers on the lyceum platform. Mr. Southwick will appear in Holland rick Henry. This prize was considered the best of a course in which such men as John Fiske, John D. Long, and Everett Hale had part.

William T. Harris, commissioner of education, Washington, D. C., says: "It is unusual to find so much historical ability united with such pronounced oratorical powers as Mr. Southwick has exhibited." The Hartford Times says: "A program second to none ever given in the city."

Hall Nov. 20, at 8.30 o'clock.

As Dean Southwick is master of his profession, many great things could be said of his work. He is at the head of the Emerson School of Oratory, the greatest oratorical school in America, and is also considered by many to be at the head of all interpreters of dramatic literature. Dean Southwick is a thorough Shakespearean scholar and elocutionist, but he also lectures on other subjects. He was the first to win the Old South prize by delivering a lecture on Pat-

Minneapolis Journal: "As a Shakespearean reader Mr. Southwick is without a foe." Los Angeles Times: "A scholarly production—a message to university's young men and women of highest value." Richmond Dispatch: "A master in the art of expression and oratory." Atlanta Constitution: "A more powerfully and beautifully expressed discourse on any subject has not been heard here in many a day."

This is an opportunity for a rare treat. Nov. 20, 8.30 p. m.

Then he got grouchy.
